LITTLE SANTAS' FESTIVE CHEER

Athletes of all ages braved the stormy weather to raise money for charities in the annual Channel Rotary Santa Fun Run. Three hundred Santas from around the South East took part in the run through Folkestone on Sunday, which is estimated to have raised more than £10,000 for a variety of causes, including the Pilgrims Hospice and the Institute of Cancer Research.

EXCLUSIVE

BY NICK AMES

A PIECE of land sold by Shepway council for just £154,000 is on the market for up to £2.5 million.

The site in Hawkinge will go under the auctioneer's hammer on Friday, December 14, after covenants imposed by the council following the sell-off are removed.

This will add £467,000 to the council's coffers.

But the authority's overall gain of £620,000 is less than a quarter of the possible £2.5 million which has been quoted as the top guide price by auctioneers Clive Emson.

The land was originally sold to the Hawkinge Activities and Adventure Centre Limited in 1987.

The covenants were introduced in an attempt to keep the land in use by the charity.

But earlier this year the centre applied for outline planning permission for the land, near Siskin Close. And an agreement was reached with the council to have the covenants removed for an agreed sum of £467,000.

Ward councillor David Godfrey said he was looking into the situation after concern was expressed by local residents.

"I am not happy with the situation and will be seeking further clarification," he said.

In response, Shepway council has issued a five-point statement:

1. When we sold the land in 1987 we imposed covenants. We agreed what the value of those covenants were.

2. We have taken valuation and legal advice about whether this is an appropriate valuation and we are told that it is.

3. The money we will be paid if the land is sold

PLAYFUL: Solitary dolphins are prone to getting caught up in nets or struck by boats

Dolphin's good nature could be the end of her

■ BY NICK AMES

MARINE experts fear fans have seen the last of Dave the Dolphin – who may even have died.

Yourshepway newspaper and yourkenttv were there on one of the last days the female bottlenose was spotted during the first week of November – and filmed her playfully leaping from the waves.

It has now been almost a month since the last confirmed sighting of the popular resident of the waters off Sandgate.

Spotters from the British Divers Marine Life Rescue group are constantly on the lookout for evidence that Dave is still alive.

But so far they have drawn a complete blank.

"We do not know where she is, or if she is alive. It's that simple," marine expert Tony Woodley informed Yourshepway.

"Earlier she had sustained injuries to her fin but seemed to be OK. Certainly she was spotted after that.

"When you filmed her, that would have been one of the very last sightings as she vanished very soon afterwards.

"It was after the tidal surge and heavy seas, but whether that was a factor or not we don't know.

"Likewise, food stocks could have made her move on – but a solitary dolphin doesn't eat too much, really."

The diver group is appealing for members of the public who have evidence of Dave's whereabouts to come forward.

Solitary dolphins are regarded as a high-risk species and many instances of them being hit by boats or tangled in fishing nets have been recorded.

Mr Woodley added: "Dave is a very unusual dolphin and the behaviour she has been exhibiting is certainly unusual.

"She has become a big attraction locally and I know many people are interested in her.

"Dolphins are fascinating creatures – when you get together with one in a situation such as a rescue you get a very strong impression that this is a sentient, intelligent creature.

"Certainly they are more than just the usual marine life forms."

'Five years of misery' if building goes ahead

Opponents say that they're not being listened to

■ BY NICK AMES

PEOPLE in Romney Marsh say they face five years of misery if a proposed housing development gets the green light.

The plans entail more than 1,000 homes and other buildings on an area prone to flooding, just outside Hythe.

Developer Crofton wants to build what would be virtually a small town in an area of the marsh which is home to migrating birds and rare plant species.

Opponents of the scheme say their opinions have been ignored by the company in the run-up to the application, which is being judged by Shepway council.

Bob Wilson, who lives in Burmarsh, attended a meeting at which residents spelt out their frustration at the plans to build on the area known as Nickolls Quarry.

"We face five years of absolute misery – and that is a minimum time period," he said.

"The major problem is that the area is so prone to flooding it needs to be raised up using infill – in the case shingle.

Picture PHIL HOUGHTON

WILDLIFE: Migrating birds and rare plant species are threatened by development plans, say opponents

"I have worked out the large 40-hectare area site will need between one and two million cubic metres of infill.

"At current capacity this represents at least 80 heavy lorry journeys per day for five years at least, and possibly more. The A259 is one of the most congested roads in the county and the access roads to it are winding and narrow.

"Heavy lorries are the most likely vehicles to rip up road surfaces and they would cause utter chaos to both the streets and normal traffic by clogging up already busy bottlenecks such as the one at Hythe by the light railway station."

Crofton remains committed to the development brief.

It says it has pledged to finance all up-front costs, further substantiating its commitment to project.

The developer says it has led on the submission to the local authority of an outline planning application, including preparation of a 'development brief' and 'masterplan'.

Success for faster broadband test

A HI-TECH broadband scheme pioneered in Folkestone and Dover is to be extended to cable customers nationwide.

The project by Virgin Media has given local web users the highest speeds available at 50Mbps – up to 10 times faster than most connections.

The £20 million scheme has been promoted by Pulp Fiction star Uma Thurman and ran its trial period this autumn.

Virgin Media chief executive Neil Berkett said: "The network has a unique potential to take the lead with the commercial launch of a 50Mbps."

The system means music can be downloaded in seconds, while films take minutes to be made available rather than hours.

The arrival of broadband has revolutionised the internet, sending the number of people accessing the web soaring as multimedia content such as video and music become downloadable at far quicker speeds than dial-up modems or ISDN lines.

TV show highlights flood risk

LOW-LYING areas of Shepway have been declared among the 11 most likely parts of the UK to flood.

They are identified by Channel 4's Dispatches programme which went out on Monday, putting Boston in Lincolnshire at the top of the list.

The programme, called Britain Under Water, reports that increased building in floodplain areas means there has been significant surge in the number of homes at risk.

It also raises concerns over the amount that authorities are doing to protect vulnerable installations such as power stations, railway lines and motorways.

The show raises the suggestion that insurers should be tougher on developers wanting to construct properties on flood plains – or simply refuse to insure them at all.

A spokesman for the Department of Environment, Food and Rural Affairs said: "The Government is committed to effectively managing flood and coastal erosion risk.

"Spending has nearly doubled in cash terms during the last 10 years and is now estimated at £600 million for 2007-08."

Church repairs are finished thanks to Community Chest

■ BY ROB LIVINGSTONE

REPAIRS to Hythe Christian Spiritualist Church have been completed, thanks to a grant from Shepway council.

The £4,000 payout from the Community Chest fund went towards the £8,000 needed to repair structural damage to a wall.

A plaque was unveiled at a service last month to mark the completion of repairs. It was attended by deputy council leader Cllr David Monks.

Averil Parsons, president of the church, said: "When we discovered a bulge in our wall that needed attention, it was a shock to hear that we needed to find £8000 for the work.

"So we were delighted to receive a grant from Shepway's Community Chest to cover half the cost.

"That meant we were able to concentrate our efforts on raising funds for the remaining £4,000."

The work of the church in Mount Street has been completed.

Cllr David Monks had no doubt that the church was a worthy cause for the Community Chest fund.

"With well over a hundred members, this is an active local church, and the grant means it can continue with its many community activities," he said.

The Community Chest Fund had provided 25 grants, totalling £87,000, to causes in Shepway last year, the councillor continued.

"This included support for a local allotments group, camping equipment for the Guides, support for Age Concern and helping to install disabled toilets at the Greatstone community hall," said Cllr Monks.

"This year we have had more than 30 applications from local groups and we expect to have around £80,000 to allocate."

Campaign to cut fire dangers

IN an attempt to cut the number of fire-related deaths to zero, Kent Fire and Rescue Service is launching a campaign to convince housing developers to install sprinkler systems in homes and businesses.

Chief executive Charlie Hendry said new building or renovation projects, such as those in Tontine Street, needed to be aware of the dangers posed by fire.

He said: "Kent faces a massive house-building programme over the coming years and I believe those who plan, design and build new homes have a responsibility to make sure residents are safe from the potentially devastating effects of fire.

"We are urging the county's key opinion formers to endorse the installation of sprinkler systems in all new homes and also in existing properties where vulnerable people are most at risk."

Wheel excitement over floral display

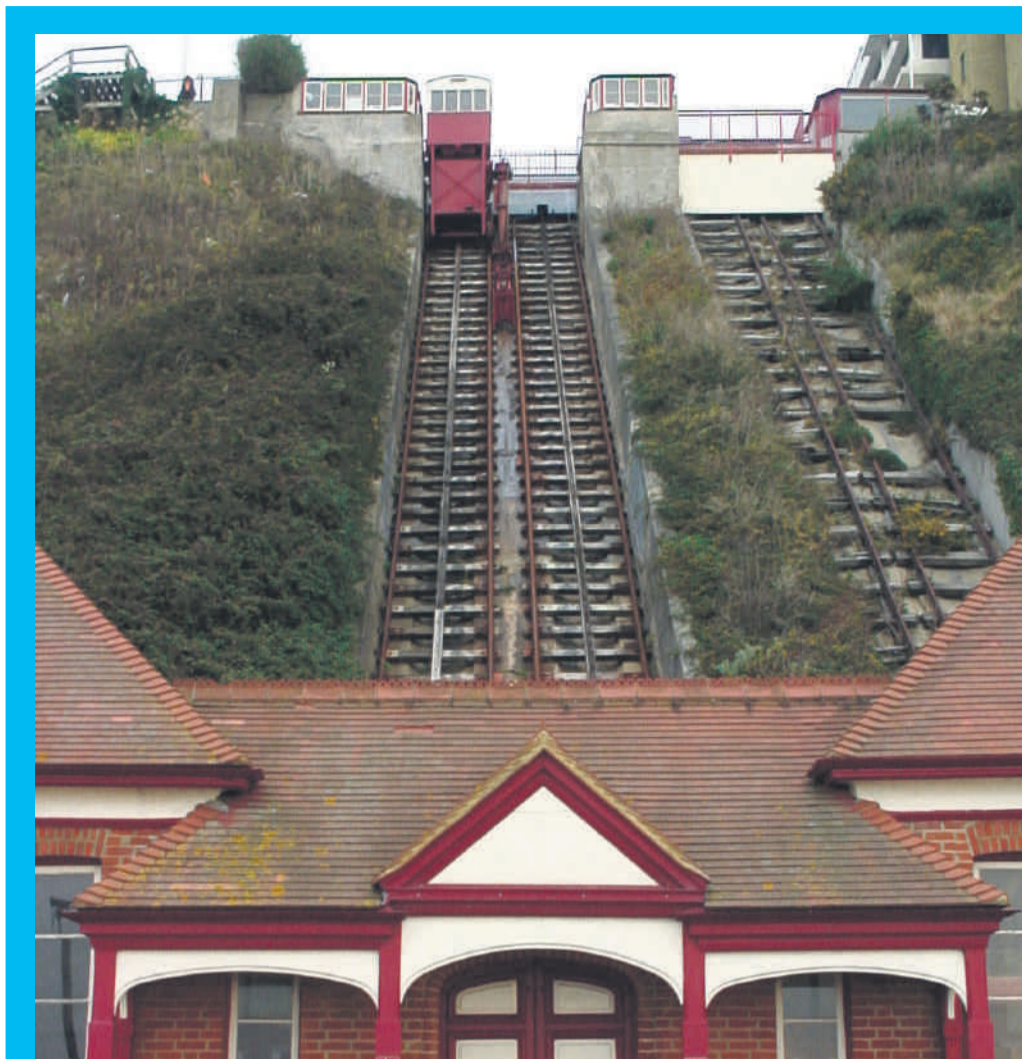

A SPECIAL flower arrangement in the form of a large timepiece on The Leas at Folkestone has clocked up more than £200 for the Inner Wheel Club.

Each year a display is set up by Shepway council to represent local charities. This year it was the turn of the club, which celebrated its 75th anniversary this year.

The flower clock is planted with thousands of bedding plants – a tradition stretching back for more than half a century.

Cllr Rory Love, cabinet member for the environment, presented the cheque to the group.

He said: "The Inner Wheel does a lot of good work in the district. Our flower clock is a real feature of the town and, as always, this year our groundstaff created a wonderful display."

LIFT APPEAL ESCALATED

Funds are still being sought to restore The Leas historic step-lift carriage, which dates from 1890.

Conservationists want to run the machine alongside the existing lifts as a new tourist attraction for Folkestone.

So far the restoration team has raised £7,500, which has been added to a Shepway council community grant of £4,500.

But more double the existing cash is needed to complete the work, which will eventually cost £25,000.

A spokeswoman for the restorers said: "We are appealing to supporters and business to cover this shortfall as we feel this is an extremely worthy cause.

"This is a genuinely interesting relic of the past history of our town.

"We need to take a lead from the way Ashford has used its restored World War One tank as a focal point for visitors and tourists.

"Our lift is older than the tank and so would be just as effective in teaching people about the history of the area and the people who used to live here."

Lottery thousands a boost for sports trust

FOLKESTONE Sports Centre Trust has won £57,403 in the Big Lottery Funds: The People's Millions.

Tessa Stickler, manager of the trust, said: "This is so exciting. There is so much we can do with this money for the sports centre."

In July last year the Cool 2B Fit campaign was launched, aimed at encouraging young people to get more active.

By using the funds from the People's Millions the Trust can build facilities for children to use while promoting fitness at the same time.

Mrs Stickler said: "What we are trying to do is get kids to understand the importance of keeping fit. Not all children enjoy mainstream sport such as football, so we want to provide facilities for them.

"With this money we can add to the funds that we have already raised and build a toboggan slope and young people's fitness gym."

■ BY MARIJKE COX

The centre already has a ski-slope which doubles as a toboggan slope, but with the money from the Lottery the trust can build a dedicated toboggan area for the children.

A young people's fitness gym will also provide facilities for the under-16s, allowing them the chance to keep fit using equipment suitable for their age and build.

Mrs Stickler said: "I first applied to the competition back in May with the Cool 2B Fit campaign. We were shortlisted down to 16 in our area and then down to eight.

"Over four days two projects go head to head and the winner is decided by public vote. We are so happy to have won as it will benefit the kids so much."

As well as a toboggan slope and young people's fitness gym, the money will go towards extending the skate-park and providing an after-school club.

This club is aimed at young people who prefer not to take part in mainstream sport and gives them the chance to get involved in interactive sport and playground games.

Mrs Stickler said: "I would really like to thank everybody who voted for us. Without their support we wouldn't have won and it's fantastic that we can now achieve what we want for young people in the area.

"I would also like to thank the Lottery for giving us this opportunity to expand our ideas and again provide facilities for children".

The People's Millions is the largest distributor of Lottery money used to benefit community organisations and projects for health, education and the environment.

Raffle raises funds for family of Iraq hero Lex

CASH was raised during an art raffle at this year's civic reception of Shepway council chairman George Bunting for the family of a soldier killed in Afghanistan.

A total of £505 was raised and presented to Lt Col David Wombell.

He accepted it on behalf of the children of Major Alexis Roberts, who died while serving with the 1st Battalion Royal Gurkha Rifles.

The officer, who was married with two daughters, died as the result of an explosion by a roadside bomb while returning to his base at Kandahar in October.

Following the tragedy, Lieutenant Colonel Jonny Bourne MBE, his commanding officer, said: "In Major Lex Roberts, both battalions of the Royal Gurkha Rifles have lost a dear friend and a treasured officer."

■ BY NICK AMES

"The British Army has lost one of its finest prospects and the nation has lost a dedicated servant, a demonstrably warm-hearted man of profound integrity and courage – quite simply, a very special human being."

"Lex was killed by an enemy improvised explosive device to the west of Kandahar city. He was commanding a convoy of the battalion's vehicles."

Devastated

"I was in my headquarters awaiting news of their progress when the tragic news came through. It goes without saying that I and those I was with were devastated when we were informed of the attack and its effects."

"Lex had come across to 1st Battalion The Royal Gurkha Rifles specifically to support us for this operation in Afghanistan from our sister battalion, 2nd Battalion The Royal Gurkha Rifles, but he had spent many years with us in various appointments prior to this tour and he was well known to my riflemen and officers."

"He had only been back with this battalion for a short period but had already established himself as one of its mainstays – conscientious, always willing to selflessly muck in and with a keen sense of duty."

"The convoy he was leading was completing its final leg when he was killed."

"I had listened in when he briefed his soldiers before the first leg of the journey deep in Helmand, and I was there to count the vehicles out when they departed."

"I took Lex aside for a personal chat before he climbed into his vehicle."

"He was taking it all in his stride, was calm, positive and entirely in control. His poise was humbling."

TRIBUTE TO A HERO

A civic tribute has been paid to Major Alexis Roberts, who died when serving with 1st Battalion Royal Gurkha Rifles. He was recently honoured by members of Shepway council for his bravery and dedication to his country.

Online lessons for firefighters

KENT Fire and Rescue Service have agreed a deal with the Fire Brigade Union allowing firefighters to access online learning courses while on duty.

The agreement will mean that firefighters who are taking part in one of the registered IT courses can learn at work, providing they are not called out.

Chief Fire Officer Charlie Hendry said: "We are extremely pleased to be part of this agreement."

"Here at Kent Fire and Rescue Service we take great pride in our staff and are keen to be involved with the FBU in a scheme that encourages and develops a range of skills."

At present some 100 fire staff are taking an online course, although the FBU expects that figure to rise dramatically before the end of the year.

Bob Fitzgerald, head of the FBU Learning Fund Project, which organises the online courses, said: "We are expecting to double the number of station union learning representatives by November."

"This should help to embed the learning culture throughout the Kent Fire and Rescue Service and support individuals in reaching their full potential."

QUESTION & ANSWER

CHRIS HALES

Q What animals do you look after?

A The description of large carnivores does not quite cover the animals we look after in our section. At one point it was quite a good description. Barbary lions, Indian and Siberian tigers, snow leopards, African hunting dogs, Canadian timber wolves and dholes were the larger carnivores that made up the section. This has been increased to include some newcomers to the zoo, such as meerkats, coati and everything in the reptile house. None of these newcomers are large carnivores, but most do eat meat and so that's why they have fallen onto this section.

Q How dangerous is it?

A Safety has always been an issue with working with wild animals, but of course things aren't implemented or put on to paper until things happen. In recent years, health and safety has been, of course, top of everything that we do.

But to be honest, working with large carnivores has to be done properly and safely – the penalty for mistakes isn't just a scratch, it could be death. The large carnivore section is made up of four people: myself, Richard Barnes, Sarah Wills and Rob Gordon, and I trust all of them with my life... you have to.

Q How did you land your dream job?

A Being head of the large carnivore section is a dream job, but one that I'm not 100 per cent in yet – I'm currently acting head of large carnivores. The road to this position has been a long one – I actually started off on the small carnivore section aged 18 when keeper Neville Buck gave me my opening.

I worked with Neville for five years. In this time I learnt a lot – Neville is very experienced and knowledgeable, which made him great to learn from. Then I made the decision to become a cover keeper, covering people's days off or holidays on different sections, and so got to work with all the animals.

Part of this time I spent a while on the large carnivore section and I loved every minute of it, and so when I was given the choice of where I could go permanently I chose the large carnivore section without hesitation. I started with little knowledge of the animals, but passion drives you to learn.

Q What kind of relationship do you have with the animals?

A Looking after animals on a day-to-day basis means that you get emotionally attached to them, even those that would rather have you for dinner.

One particular lion springs to mind – her name was Aisha. She was easily the most aggressive lion that we have ever had here at the zoo.

As a cub, Aisha was neglected by her mother, but instead of hand-rearing her, the keepers simply snuck into the shed when mum was off doing her thing with dad and bottle-fed her.

This was done for two weeks in the hope that mum would come back and do the job herself. It paid off – one day Aisha was sitting on the keeper's lap suckling from a bottle, the next day she was a lion, all teeth and claws!

She never changed from this point onwards. As an adult she had this wonderful habit of running for her food, but upon realising we were still near the fence watching her she would run back towards us and leap from 20 feet away, landing with all four feet, and a lot of teeth, on the fence, trying to get to us... thank goodness for that tough chain-link fence.

Even with all this hostility she remained one of my favourite cats – I guess I saw something behind all of that aggression. Aisha died at the very young age of five from something we had no control over.

That was very hard, struggling to get her well but seeing her fade away despite our best efforts. I will always miss her.

On a lighter note, her only cub turned out to be lovely and friendly towards us, except her grumpy days.

She displays all the characteristics I could see behind the eyes of Aisha.

Tiger keeper Chris Hales, 27, is acting head of the large carnivores section at Howletts and Port Lympne wild animal parks. He talks to Gareth Arnold about life with some of the world's most charismatic beasts.

furniture for life

The latest plasma screens have revolutionised television viewing, but the sheer size of these enormous units means they tend to dominate their environment. The answer to the problem comes in the form of magnificent, elevating cabinets which will definitely enhance rather than detract from your living space. The cabinets are available in traditional mahogany and yew as well as the latest contemporary natural oak. Your DVD player and VCR are stowed beneath the television and there is ample storage for DVDs and cassettes – and all hidden away behind the elegant veneered doors. The television itself is raised up by an ingenious, virtually silent mechanism operated by remote control. Contact us for further information or visit our showroom, open Monday to Saturday from 9am – 5pm, to see them in action. See the full range of furniture at our Westgate-on-Sea showroom. Award-winning papers for you

KENT ON SUNDAY has scooped another major industry award.

The Newspaper Society named KoS as Britain's best free weekly newspaper at a prestigious awards ceremony on Thursday evening.

Judges said the title was packed with news, views and advertising and "was so good you would expect to have to pay for it".

This is the seventh time KoS has won a UK free newspaper of the year award.

Yourthanet, which is one of eight new local papers launched by KOS Media in September, also picked up an award for best advert in a free newspaper.

The advert formed part of a campaign for Miles & Barr estate agents, after it won Kent Company of The Year 2007, and was designed by KOS Media's Anna Harman and the company's marketing team.

Chris Britcher won a silver award for Britain's best sports journalist in recognition of his work for Kent on Sunday.

Mr Britcher is now editor of Yourashford, Yourcanterbury and Yoursware (Faversham). KOS Media managing director Paul Stannard said: "It is great to see our media being recognised again at a national level.

"This is great for the county's national profile and it is pleasing to see some of our individuals singled out for their talent."

Kent on Sunday editor Bernard Ginns said: "We have an excellent team here at KOS Media and we all work hard to provide the good people of Kent with a quality free news service. It was also very pleasing to see one of our new midweek titles winning an award."

The Kent Messenger Group won a bronze award for Best Paid-For Weekly Newspaper in the South East.

WINNERS: Chris Britcher won silver for sports journalist of the year, Kent on Sunday won free newspaper of the year and Yourthanet won an award for best advert in a free paper. Editor Bernard Ginns (above right) is pleased with the success.

The Newspaper Society represents all Britain's local and regional papers and websites. This year's competition had one of the highest ever number of entries.

Joanna to support our wildlife trust

ACTRESS Joanna Lumley has agreed to help publicise the work of Kent Wildlife Trust by taking on the role of patron next year.

The charity is also celebrating its 50th anniversary in 2008.

Lumley, who made her stage debut in 1972 at Canterbury's Marlowe Theatre, is a keen environmentalist.

She has also starred in TV series The New Avengers and Sapphire and Steel, but has become best known for her man-hungry party girl role as Patsy Stone in BBC classic comedy Absolutely Fabulous.

Lumley, who has lived near both Canterbury and Tenterden in the past, said: "I am proud and delighted to support Kent Wildlife Trust as its patron in this, its 50th year.

"The progress and achievements the Trust has made over the years are hugely impressive."

Trust chairman Fidelity Wilson added: "I had the pleasure of meeting Joanna recently when we discussed our many exciting and ambitious plans for the year and how she may become involved.

"She demonstrated great passion and enthusiasm for wildlife, and is sure to be a great ambassador for the Trust in 2008."

Family want you to keep your buddies safe

THE family of murdered Lucie Blackman is hoping to help others avoid her fate by launching a new safety device.

The BuddySafe key fob, which is activated by a button, sends a text, email and voice message from the user's mobile phone that says "HELP" to loved ones. Using Bluetooth technology, the discreet device also sends out information about the user's location.

Miss Blackman, a bar hostess from Sevenoaks, was murdered in 2001 in Japan, aged just 21. A 54-year-old Japanese businessman, Joji Obara, was later cleared of her murder but convicted of raping nine others, one of whom died.

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in the district of Shepway...

We will all be guilty if Big Brother has his way

I DON'T know about everyone else but personally, the Government's plan to issue us all with ID cards makes me less comfortable than Winston Smith in a pet shop specialising in rats.

Orwellian clichés aside, I find the prospect of an eye scanning, voice recognizing, and fingerprint analysing world rather uncomfortable, not to mention unhygienic.

I've heard the arguments; for the terminally absent minded it might be better to have only one important document to lose... until you lose it that is.

And of course, there's the old chestnut if you haven't done anything wrong, you've got nothing to fear.

Well, maybe not, but it's really not about having nothing to fear is it? This isn't the schoolroom where nobody goes home until the person who released crickets in assembly owns up.

Shouldn't we be asking instead: "If I haven't done anything wrong, why the interest?"

Like most law abiding citizens, bar a few parking tickets and occasional determined nakedness, my criminal intentions are pretty much zero.

But still, the Government would like a comprehensive database including biometric data, personal details, pet's name and favourite colour.

Why? Just in case?

By pushing this scheme, it's as if the Government assumes we are all closet criminal masterminds, Dick Dastardly style characters who sit at home twirling our waxed mustaches, talking to our dogs and cooking up ingenious ways to beat a selection of bizarre vehicles in a comedy endurance race.

Ok, this analogy has gone astray, but the point is that one of the central tenets of English law is innocent until proven guilty.

Innocent people do not deserve to have their eyes scanned when they go shopping.

Already our lives are monitored in a way that has simply not been possible in the past, and ID cards represent another nail in the coffin for privacy and personal freedom.

It's almost as if the law is shifting towards innocent, as long as you can prove it.

Aside from the proven inaccuracy of current statistical biometrics, the outrageous cost to the tax payer and the seemingly inevitable Home Office cock-ups, keeping track of everybody in this way is just wrong.

I've spent time in countries like Cuba and China where police can demand citizens' papers for simply being out on the street. It is a genuinely disturbing experience, and it's not something we should be trying to emulate.

A national ID database, on which we are all numbers to be shared and collated is an anathema, an affront not only to our individual identity, but to our national identity too.

ELOISE HASSELL

Eloise Hassell manages the Folkestone Area Partnership Against Crime – she talks about the group's contribution to the town

What does FAPEC do in Folkestone?

Folkestone Area Partnership Against Crime (FAPAC) engages with the local business community by radio link, helping businesses take ownership of problems such as anti-social behaviour, shoplifting, binge and under-age drinking and alcohol-related crime. The FAPAC radio is an instant link with CCTV and those police officers who are patrolling our town. FAPAC members have an EYE symbol on their windows and will help visiting students, tourists, lost children, vulnerable aged and any member of the public who needs to contact the emergency services. It is funded through the hiring out of radios to businesses in and around Folkestone and the Shepway area.

These radios, together with SDC-CCTV, warn FAPAC members when troublemakers are around and this helps to prevent those individuals who are harming our retail community from carrying out their criminal activity.

Surprisingly, there are still people who do not realise that they are being watched by town and store CCTV. FAPAC works with traders, Kent police, local authorities and other agencies such as Kent County Council Trading Standards, Kent Fire and Rescue Services, Shepway District Council Licensing and Environmental Health.

It was set up under the umbrella of FTCM Limited and alongside Discover Folkestone Hythe and Romney Marsh – it is an award-winning, intelligence-led, business retail crime reduction partnership.

What has FAPEC achieved?

The FAPAC scheme has saved the police more than £1 million during the last three years. Police figures indicate a significant drop in crime and the retail community of Folkestone, who are members of FAPAC, have indicated that they feel a sense of 'community spirit' in the knowledge that they are linked 24/7 to each other and CCTV. We urge all businesses in the Shepway area to join the FAPAC scheme that helps provide a safer place to live, work, shop and visit.

Cemetery tree is a prickly issue

I was horrified to find in Spring Lane cemetery, Seabrook, that a large yellow-berried holly tree had for no apparent reason been cut down.

I have watched this holly grow over 18 years from a small bush into a beautiful tree which gave food and shelter to many birds – but sadly no more.

Shepway council was not aware or responsible for this act of damage, but apparently workers had to clear the tree as it was covering several graves.

I wonder what response the perpetrators of this act would have if they returned home and found a tree or maybe a shed had been taken down in their garden.

I hope that if anyone knows anything about what happened at Spring Lane cemetery, they will contact Shepway council. Either that, or maybe the person responsible will own up – shame on you!

High cost of our winter walks

It is no surprise that Shepway council spent almost £170,000 more than it received in enforcing parking fines (last week's Yourshepway).

For several years I, along with others, looked forward to walks along the beach at Dymchurch once the season was over.

Leaving the car in the parking area by the Martello tower (free during winter weekends), we would enjoy a bracing stroll before walking into the town for a beer, a bite to eat and maybe a newspaper to read in front of the fire on our return home.

All this ended last year when I inadvertently contributed £30 to the Shepway car park operating costs. I had missed the announcement that parking charges were to be introduced and was astonished to find a penalty ticket on the car when we returned from our walk.

There can't have been more than a dozen cars in the park that Sunday morning, far fewer than previously – which should have alerted me to the change.

Shepway apparently pays someone to spend the whole day checking the few vehicles parked in the November rain – the combined revenue from parking fees and fines cannot possibly match the costs involved in enforcing the charges.

We no longer drive to Dymchurch on winter Sundays, preferring not to contribute to the council's ill-thought-out policy. Apart from the people who go elsewhere rather than pay up, the losers are the shops, cafés and pubs in Dymchurch.

This is no doubt repeated throughout most places in Shepway, with almost empty car parks and declining business revenues. Instead of encouraging winter trade through a pro-active policy of support for local businesses, the council does its best to drive custom away.

Punitive car park charges encourage on-street parking and reduce revenues for local traders, particularly during the off-season months.

Residents of Shepway get little enough for their high council taxes – for environmental services to throw away our money like this is unforgivable.

You can help to reduce cancer risk

With so many scientific studies being published all the time about what increases or reduces your cancer risk, it is sometimes difficult to know how seriously each one should be taken.

The expert report recently launched by World Cancer Research Fund (WCRF) took five years to compile and involved a process that included more than 200 scientists, with the World Health Organization and UNICEF among the observers.

Using an open, independent and transparent process to review all the evidence, readers can be confident that the WCRF recommendations for preventing cancer represent the best advice available anywhere in the world today.

Now that the report has been published, individuals need to use the information as part of daily life for better health.

It is not WCRF's role to tell anyone how to live their lives. All we have tried to do is ensure everyone is empowered to make choices that reduce cancer risk.

It is also important to remember that these recommendations are not a case of 'all or nothing'. The evidence is clear that even making modest differences to your lifestyle can reduce your cancer risk.

So, if you are not physically active at all at the moment, do a little bit.

If you do not want to give up processed meat, try cutting down.

I firmly believe that the knowledge that we can do things today to reduce our cancer risk in the future is a really positive one.

Bouverie's warm opening reception

As centre manager of the new Bouverie Place shopping centre, I had the pleasure of opening the shopping centre on Monday, November 26, with the help of Michael Howard MP and key representatives from our local authority, including the mayor, Cllr Peter Gane, and leader of Shepway council, Cllr Robert Bliss.

The shopping centre looks fantastic and I want to thank the residents of Folkestone for their warm and enthusiastic welcome.

I would like to thank all the retailers in the shopping centre who have been resourceful and helpful, particularly in the run-up to the big opening and I would like to thank my team for their hard work and commitment making sure Bouverie Place's first day ran smoothly.

Preparing for the opening of this highly anticipated shopping centre was indeed challenging, but with the help of excellent on-site teams and many local businesses, the day was a complete success.

For their support of the opening day ceremony and launch event I would particularly like to thank Sharon Davis-McClaren and her team at Starbucks.

Also Stuart Emery, Daniel Wright and the team at the Leas Cliff Hall, Paul Marshall at MVS Video, Maria Smith at Wild For Flowers, photographer Ady Kerry and Alan Myatt, the excellent town crier!

I am very excited to be a part of a dynamic town centre and I wish all the retailers in Folkestone a successful Christmas season.

Kate's living for these days

Southern songstress Kate Campbell transforms religious themes into some lyrical inspirations

THE unique sound of Kate Campbell, both vocal and lyrical, has been compared to some of music's most legendary acts.

Described as "a major talent" by the music press, Campbell is considered to have the same grasp of her voice and writing as Emmylou Harris and Lucinda Williams.

The singer/songwriter from Alabama is renowned for her clever, mood-intensive sketches of life in America's Deep South, accurately portraying lazy, small-town life and the hard-working attitudes of country folk.

On her latest album, For The Living Of These Days, Campbell was asked to produce something similar to 2001's Wandering Strange, on which she recast the hymns of her youth in the Baptist church using her favourite style – 60s soul with a heavy dose of Muscle Shoals sound.

She enlisted the help of legendary musician Spooner Oldham and the result was an album which captured special moments in the studio more than any other.

Inspired by her own spiritual journey, Campbell used Christianity's teachings about how human beings treat each other as a theme.

Woody Guthrie's Jesus Christ opens the album and explores the idea that Christ's message would have had the same result if he had preached it to citizens of New York in 1940. Campbell used this as a foundation for the rest of the album.

The same idea is used in Kris Kristofferson's They Killed Him and Bobby Braddock's Would They Love Him Down in Shreveport.

The idea of denying events like the Holocaust and Trail of Tears is explored in Campbell's own Terrible Mercy.

There are songs which discuss allowing a higher power to guide us and the album also includes The Prayer of Thomas Merton, which is a Trappist monk's prayer set to music.

Campbell discovered that repeated listening brought out more and deeper meanings from each song, which she hoped would help to offer guidance, encouragement and hope for the living of these days.

Campbell will be supported by The Haley Sisters from West Yorkshire. From an early age, Jo-Ann and Becky followed in their parents' footsteps and showed an interest in music, particularly country.

BOO HEWERDINE

Saturday, December 8
Orange Street Music Club, Canterbury

PROLIFIC songwriter Boo Hewerdine will be performing a diverse range of songs in Canterbury this weekend.

For his latest album, Harmonograph, Hewerdine decided to record his own versions of songs he had written for, or with, other people, which gave him a choice of about 400, written for the likes of Eddi Reader, Natalie Imbruglia, Mel C and Alex Parks.

Hewerdine started writing songs as a child and formed The Bible in the mid-1980s. One of their releases, Glorybound, was praised by author Nick Hornby in his book, 31 Songs.

The band split when on the verge of success and Hewerdine embarked on a solo career that would see him writing the film scores for Fever Pitch and TwentyFourSeven.

Various described as a folk, country and pop singer, he has recorded two albums with Nick Drake's producer, John Wood.

The gig starts at 8pm. Tickets cost £12 and £10. To book, phone 01227 760801, or Atkin Guitars on 01227 719933.

Brad won't be paranoid

BY SHEREEN LOW

DESPITE being one of the most photographed men on the planet, Brad Pitt is happy to take the constant attention in his stride.

"I know the deal and I understand the trade-off. There are great perks to what we do. We get to travel and see the world. And we manage it," says the actor of his lifestyle with Angelina Jolie and their family.

"The only time it becomes unmanageable is when it's a full-frontal attack on the kids. Unfortunately, there is no line concerning family these days and that concerns me. That's the only thing that really bothers me."

And even after being jumped on by a fan at the Venice Film Festival, where he walked away with the award for best actor, Pitt insists he won't be stepping up his security.

"I don't want to change my life because of paranoia."

"I could point out that we can be very vulnerable in these situations and there are a couple of people out there not playing with a full deck, but I'm not changing anything."

The Babel star has had relationships with a string of high profile actresses. He was engaged to Gwyneth Paltrow, married to Jennifer Aniston and now has four children – three adopted – with Jolie, who he met on the set of Mr & Mrs Smith.

"She's the best sounding board I have, and I value her opinion immensely," he says of the Tomb Raider actress.

"I rely on it. She annoys me sometimes, but she's good."

Pitt became a household name starring in blockbusters like Fight Club, The Departed and the Ocean's trilogy, and will next be seen as American outlaw Jesse James in The Assassination Of Jesse James By The Coward Robert Ford.

"I love this kind of film, it breathes and allows for human moments. It's my favourite kind of story telling," he explains.

"The nice thing for me, which I was surprised by and didn't realise how much it would mean to me, was doing something that was related to the area where I grew up."

"I see Missouri come up on screen and it still gives me a little bit of pleasure. It's just nice to have some connection to the place that shaped me."

Coming from the same sort of background helped him prepare for the role, he says.

"I had a nice advantage. I drew from the cadence and temper of the people and was comfortable with horses, so I was ready to go," he added.

HOME: Brad Pitt particularly enjoyed his latest project because of its links to Missouri, where he grew up

During filming, he got into the role by obtaining real-life props belonging to the outlaw, such as his Smith & Wesson gun and his ring.

With one award for the part already under his belt, this could be the beginning of an Oscar nod – but Pitt says he doesn't look that far ahead.

"I don't play the Oscars game," he says. "I had a Golden Globe about a decade ago, but they (the awards) are never the focus."

"I really believe it's how you personally feel. You just want to feel that you've given it your best at the end of the day."

Cosy charm of the Cotswolds

■ BY PETER WOODMAN

THERE is something comforting about the Cotswolds, an area as warm and welcoming as a woolly Witney blanket.

Indeed it was wool that built the Cotswolds – the heavy fleeces from local sheep being much in demand and leading to the wealth and growth of the district in the Middle Ages.

The legacy for visitors today is the number of beautiful country houses that have grown out of the area's historical wealth. The other joy is the lovely unspoilt countryside and the resounding place names.

Stow-on-the-Wold, Bourton-on-the-Water, Chipping Campden, Upper Slaughter – no area does names quite like the Cotswolds.

Our first stop was Thornbury Castle, just north of Bristol, a residence that once hosted Henry VIII and his second wife Anne Boleyn.

The castle is just a short walk from the main town, and opposite an imposing church. Thornbury Castle was recently voted second only to Ashford Castle in Ireland as the best castle hotel in Europe, it's not hard to see why.

We worked our way up a winding staircase to our immaculate room and later enjoyed walks in the pretty grounds.

Thornbury was a good spot for exploring the southern Gloucestershire part of the Cotswolds. There are gardens galore around here, and we dropped in at Abbey House Gardens in Malmesbury.

BEAUTIFUL: The town of Painswick, Gloucestershire, is one of the many stunning sites to be enjoyed in the area

From Thornbury we were also able to see Painswick Rococo Garden. This is the only rococo garden in the UK – one where there is no one particular style but a series of different features shown off flamboyantly.

Painswick's gardens were created in the 18th century and were almost lost when they were abandoned in 1960. Happily, a restoration began in 1984 and the garden is now controlled by a registered charitable trust. Definitely worth a stop.

Even more steeped in history is Berkeley Castle between Bristol and Gloucester. It was here that Edward II met a grisly end in 1327, with legend having it that the unfortunate monarch was dispatched somewhat spectacularly by the use of a red-hot poker.

I came away recalling the famous lines from 1066 And All That about Edward's murder – "That night horrible screams were heard coming from Berkeley Castle and in the morning the king was horribly dead."

Our second, and last, stop was right in the heart of the Cotswolds at the Lords of the Manor country house hotel at Upper Slaughter.

The name, and that of Lower Slaughter, refers not to some Berkeley Castle-type atrocity, but to the Anglo-Saxon word slohtre which means 'muddy place'.

Well, it was not too muddy when we were there, although we had a real downpour just after checking in at Lords of the Manor, which is a former rectory converted to a very comfortable place to stay.

The next day we headed for Owlpen Manor at Dursley – almost hidden in a valley – which is small but of great interest.

It is believed that Henry VI's Queen, Margaret of Anjou, stayed at Owlpen the night before the 1471 Battle of Tewkesbury where her son Edward was slain in the Wars of the Roses.

Needless to say, Margaret's ghost is said to haunt Owlpen. Accommodation is available next to the manor house in what is, as you'd expect from the Cotswolds, a gloriously secluded setting.

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS
(Jan 21 - Feb 19)

A SHORT trip to see a relative or friend could be in the stars over the countdown to Christmas and you will benefit from the change of scenery. Before you make any plans, check in with work. An exciting position that seems perfectly suited to your creative abilities could become available. It's more important to build up your cash reserves.

TAURUS
(Apr 21 - May 21)

WHO you know makes more difference than what you know this week. If you need a few extra favours, ask a colleague who is in a position to grant them. Partnerships prove positive and providential between now and the end of the year. If you've been thinking of getting engaged this would be a great time to pop the question.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug 23)

ROMANTIC opportunities arrive through intellectual activities over the next three weeks. Fortunately, your gift with words enables you to seduce anyone who crosses your path. Don't be fooled, you will not have the upper hand in this relationship. Decorating your home for Christmas will be a wonderful way to draw your family.

SCORPIO
(Oct 24 - Nov 22)

IDEAS for making money come fast and furious. A secret love affair brings you a thrill of pleasure. It's easy to be kind and generous with others when your private life is so blissful. People will wonder if you've had a health or beauty treatment in the weeks ahead; you've never looked better. Don't let a pessimistic pal stop you making a small investment.

PISCES
(Feb 20 - Mar 20)

THE next three weeks demand that you consider your professional future. You've got to create a strategy for climbing the ladder of success. Now is the time to showcase your abilities. Starting your own business can be as simple as borrowing money from the bank. Fortunately, there's a market for your creative vision.

GEMINI
(May 22 - Jun 22)

MAKING plans with a business or romantic partner will prove fruitful this week. The two of you are eager to move onward and upward. If you're on your own, you could meet someone special at a cultural or Christmas event. Your work situation becomes more pleasant between now and the end of the year. Everybody is entering into the festive spirit.

VIRGO
(Aug 24 - Sep 23)

MAKING arrangements for a family Christmas could take up the lion's share of your time. Resist the temptation to do everything yourself. Relatives will be happy to help. You'll get a marvellous response from an advertisement, blog, or mass mailing. Don't be too discouraging toward a relative or neighbour who wants to try something new.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov 23 - Dec 21)

IF you feel like you're up banging your head against a brick wall, explain your feelings to your nearest and dearest. An authority figure may not be willing to give you time off. Perhaps they suspect you are looking for better job opportunities. A well connected friend could introduce you to an influential person in the next few days.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr 20)

YOU'LL have a marvellous opportunity to spread your wings and fly this week. A change of scene will put you in a good mood and might even put you in the path of love. Your expertise may not be acknowledged at work. Keep tension at bay lots of entertainment. An unexpected windfall or bonus helps you afford life's little luxuries.

CANCER
(Jun 23 - Jul 23)

IDEAS for improving your health are worth following over the countdown to Christmas. Domestic life will prove blissful now, particularly after a relative comes forward to relieve you of chores. If you're looking for love, you could find it between now and the end of the year. Keep your eyes open for an enigmatic figure at a nightclub.

LIBRA
(Sep 24 - Oct 23)

CHRISTMAS has always been a busy time for you, and the weeks ahead will prove no exception. Efforts related to sales and advertising will prove positive and profitable. Spending more time on the activities and people you love will put you on a festive high so delegate mundane chores to neighbours, friends, and family members.

CAPRICORN
(Dec 22 - Jan 20)

TRUST your intuition when dealing with a neighbour or relative. Although the two of you have very different approaches to life, you can make great progress by working together. A woman may ask you to take on a thankless job, but by getting on with it with a minimum fuss you could earn yourself a great reputation and maybe a big bonus.

Are you clicking on to television of the future?

BY CHRIS THOMSON

IT has long been billed as the future for the delivery of TV shows – and a new deal between the UK's top terrestrial broadcasters looks set finally to make on-demand, online TV a mainstream platform.

The BBC, ITV and Channel 4 last week confirmed all three were to join forces to launch a unified service, bringing together the cream of their programming and making it accessible for all with broadband web connections.

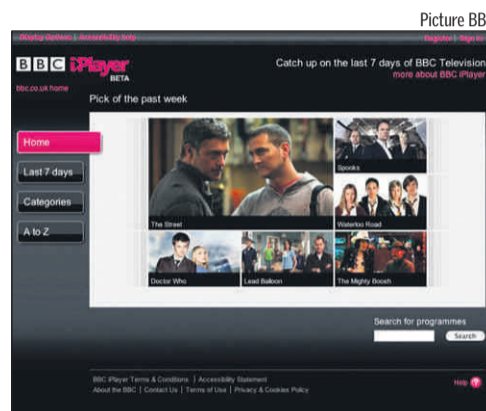

In a nutshell it will provide a one-stop shop for internet users to access their favourite TV shows. And with the power of the three biggest TV firms backing it, it is expected to pack an almighty punch on the online landscape.

The service will allow viewers to catch up on shows they have missed as well as accessing classic episodes of top shows.

It is expected the programming on offer will be available in a variety of different methods, including downloading – where the programme will go on to your hard drive for you to view at your leisure; streaming – which will allow the viewer access while connected to the site; and rental – the show will be downloaded but only work for a limited amount of time.

Some content will be free, but it is expected accessing certain TV favourites will incur a cost. Not every show broadcast by the three will be made available due to certain rights issues, particularly with regard to sport and movies.

All three media giants have existing on-demand services currently available. The BBC's iPlayer, ITV's catch-up service and Channel 4's 4oD will all continue to operate, in addition to the merged new service.

ONLINE: BBC's iPlayer will continue to operate

As an idea of the costs involved, BBC shows are currently free to access, while Channel 4 puts TV shows from the last 30 days on 4oD for free. Other shows cost 99p to rent and films can be accessed from £1.99.

The so-called 'micro-payments' (small charges perceived to be acceptable by web users) are seen as vital to maintain to ensure widespread take-up, as opposed to expensive monthly or annual price plans.

The as-yet-unnamed new service – which still has to be approved by the BBC Trust and the boards of ITV and Channel 4 – is hoped to go live next year.

Similar services are offered by other companies in what is becoming an increasingly competitive marketplace – made possible by the widespread home take-up of fast broadband connections and solid security systems to prevent programming being spread illegally; a copyright concern which had long bothered the industry.

Companies such as BT – via its BT Vision platform – have invested heavily in sports rights in a bid to gain a foothold on the emerging market.

It snapped up the rights to hundreds of 'near-live' Premiership football matches (full games broadcast soon after the match has finished) in order to lure customers to a package which includes broadband access, broadband-delivered TV and online phone services.

Sky, a long-time innovator in pushing the boundaries of new technology, has also had its Sky Anytime platform up and running for years – allowing existing subscribers to its digital TV services online, on-demand access to film and sport coverage via their PC.

John Smith, chief executive of BBC Worldwide – the commercial arm of the broadcaster – described the new joint project as an "historic partnership".

He said: "The new service will contain some of the very best of the UK's content for consumers to view in one place, which will be both easy to use and great fun."

There was good news last week too for viewers with Freeview – the non-subscription set-top digital TV box.

ITV, the BBC, Channel 4 and Five have all agreed in principle to launch high-definition services on Freeview between 2009 and 2012 – when traditional broadcasts will be replaced by the much-heralded switch-over to digital.

Broadcast watchdog Ofcom has proposed to increase the capacity of digital terrestrial television – services where the signal is sent to existing aerials rather than via satellite or cable – thus enabling high-definition broadcasts and the prospect of more channels.

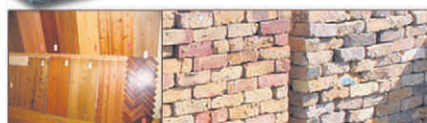

High-definition TV is only available for those with HD-ready televisions and, currently, at additional cost via the likes of Sky. Current Freeview users would have to upgrade their existing set-top box to take advantage of the possible HD channels, however.

NORTH KENT funk rock outfit Tokyo Jo joined the county's fastest-growing music site this month, uploading a clip of a typically energy-packed performance.

Famous for charismatic live shows and funky riff-based tunes, the four-piece have been dubbed Gravesend's answer to the Red Hot Chilli Peppers.

It's true that a fat and funky bass sound and John Frusciante-inspired riffs give Tokyo Jo an eminently danceable quality, but this is no tribute band.

The band add more than a little Gravesend growl to the mix, resulting in a sound that is all their own.

Join Tokyo Jo and hundreds of other unsigned bands from across the county on www.yourkenttv.co.uk now by uploading your clips to the site. Go to www.yourkenttv.co.uk and look under music/bands.

A CERTAIN SMILE

Police join merchandise bandwagon

POLICE have come under fire for spending £10,000 on setting up an online gift shop selling baby clothes inscribed with prison slogans.

The bodysuits and bibs have the slogans out at last and I've been inside for nine months written on them.

Kent police are also offering official looking merchandise – such as ties, cufflinks and pens – which critics say could be used by criminals to impersonate officers.

The force says the shopping facility has been set up to help boost funds for crime prevention, while meeting a “growing demand” for police-related products.

But Matthew Elliott, of the Taxpayers' Alliance branded the scheme a waste of money.

He said: “Kent police is out of touch if it thinks merchandising is more important than crime-fighting.”

Playgroup volunteer Sarah Newman, from Ashford, said: “Old folk could be taken in by someone with these accessories. They look authentic.”

Neil Harmon, from Margate, added: “This should not be so high profile. We are constantly being told crime fighting is a priority, but it seems that merchandising has now become more important.”

“It makes the police look rather ridiculous in my view.”

A police spokesman said the force believed it was the first in the country to open an online gift shop.

The products were chosen by its own staff, working with business partner

■ BY NICK AMES

Internova, which runs similar ventures for the London Fire Brigade and the London Transport Museum.

They also include copies of historical Kent police photographs on display in the force's museum at Chatham Dockyard.

Adult T-shirts with fingerprint designs cost from £13 to £16, baby bibs are on sale for £9, and wooden police toys cost up to £10.

On one day the shop received 29 orders worth about £700.

“This isn't a new venture for Kent police,” said the spokesman. “It's not to buy equipment like riot shields – it's about building a stream of revenue for community projects.”

Profits would go towards projects such as a youth mentoring scheme and the Kent People's Trust charity.

He said the force was confident the shop would recoup its costs in the first year.

BABYSUIT: Many find the goods on offer offensive

Soldiers to Afghanistan

THE Kent-based 1st Battalion Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders are due to be deployed to Afghanistan for six months early in the New Year.

The troops, based at Howe Barracks in Canterbury, have previously been sent to Iraq in 2004, where they were involved in the training of local security forces.

The 36 Engineer Regiment, based in Maidstone, is expected to return from Afghanistan in February or March after completing a six-month tour of duty.

Security is 'too soft'

AN MP has warned terrorists could use Ebbsfleet International to escape the UK – because they see its security as a “soft touch”.

Adam Holloway, Tory MP for Gravesend, raised concerns in Parliament after he found there were no plans to have a permanently-manned immigration control at the new £100 million rail station.

Instead the Border and Immigration Service can man Ebbsfleet when “the need arises”.

Officers on the lookout for intoxicated drivers

MORE police officers will be patrolling Kent's roads on the lookout for drunk or drugged-up drivers this December.

Over the next month officers from the road policing unit of Kent police will be joining local officers around the county, carrying out stop checks on motorways and towns to catch intoxicated motorists.

The police arrest 250 people every month in Kent for drink and drugged driving offences. Drivers caught driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs get a mandatory ban, a fine up to £5,000, or a possible prison sentence.

As part of the stop checks, officers will also be making sure that drivers and passengers are wearing seatbelts, and watching out for drivers using mobiles.

Not wearing a seatbelt will result in a £30 fine, and drivers holding a mobile phone will get a £60 fine plus three penalty points on their licence, the fine rising to between £1,000 and £2,500 for drivers of buses, coaches and heavy goods vehicles.

Statistics show that one in six people killed on the roads is attributable to someone driving under the influence of drink or drugs.

Anyone who has information regarding such drivers can speak anonymously to Kent Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Discover a house's true potential

ONE OF the most uttered phrases when viewing a property has to be 'It's got potential'. But what exactly does that mean?

We all like to voice our ideas about extending the kitchen or adding extra space by converting the loft, but finding out if that's achievable and at what cost can be expensive and time-consuming, especially for the uninitiated.

So it's interesting to learn about a new service being offered by London architects betternest.co.uk.

They will carry out a property potential report at a fixed cost of £395 on any terraced or semi-detached house in England or Wales within five days.

"The secret," according to Betternest's chief executive Simon Smith, "lies in exploiting the permitted development rights attached to every property."

To you and me this means what can be done without having to obtain planning permission.

The report then suggests possible alterations, the costs involved and the likely increase in property value upon completion – a useful tool for vendors or buyers.

What a difference a rate can make

RESEARCH from Nationwide Building Society reveals that three out of four people in the UK don't understand the monetary value a one per cent difference in mortgage rates can make.

When given details of two five-year mortgage deals to compare, the largest group of respondents (28 per cent) said they thought the difference on a £120,000 mortgage with an interest rate at 5.6 per cent compared with a rate of 6.6 per cent would be between £500 and £2,000. Another 23 per cent said they had no idea. Only a quarter of people correctly identified that the difference could be more than £4,000.

The research also showed that men are more mortgage-savvy than women, with double the amount answering correctly. Experience also seems to count – 31 per cent of the 55-64 age group guessed correctly, whereas only 16 per cent of 18-24-year-olds realised the amount a one per cent difference in rate could make.

Regionally, the South East, along with the Midlands and Scotland, had the highest score of 28 per cent.

OPPORTUNITY: It's a buyers' market in Bulgaria, which is hotting up as more people recognise the investment potential of an area that is not saturated like France or Spain

Bulgaria makes overseas dream a reality for Brits

■ BY JENNY SANTOS

THE Bulgarian property market is hotting up as more and more British investors choose the mountains and beaches of one of the EU's newest member states to buy second homes.

Bulgaria is increasingly appealing to Brits buying abroad. They are drawn by diverse property opportunities stretching from Black Sea coastal resorts to the capital Sofia and burgeoning ski resorts such as Bansko, Borovets and Pamporovo.

Attracted by cheap property, ever-improving flights and the low cost of living, it seems the word is out about the Balkan gem.

Jeff Cole and his partner Joanne Allen, both 46 and from Cliftonville, wanted to spend money that they had inherited on a property they could use for holidays and which would also provide a nest egg for later in life.

Mr Cole said: "We wanted somewhere that had potential as a year-round destination for maximum rental return."

After researching different areas via the internet, they settled on the fashionable ski resort of Pamporovo, despite the fact that neither of them had skied, let alone visited Bulgaria before.

In fact, buying their apartment off-plan, the couple didn't make the trip until they had paid out about half of the purchase price in May this year. And they weren't disappointed.

Mr Cole said: "Our initial apprehension disappeared when we saw the area, the build quality and met friendly, English-speaking people."

The couple bought their one-bedroom studio apartment for £27,000 and anticipate a rental income of between £200 and £250 a week.

With a top-end meal including wine costing under £10 and a McDonald's Big Mac meal less than £1, holiday costs are enticingly low.

Pamporovo, at 1,650 metres, has an enviable snow record and holds the title of 'sunniest ski resort in Europe' to boot.

Leaving communism behind and embracing the race towards tourism, Bulgarian authorities and private investors are spending millions on developing facilities.

Martin Rose-King, Ashford-based property agent for Estate-PM, said: "The last two years have seen the British emergence and massive growth in the Bulgarian property market."

"I've seen some properties double in value over the last 18 months and forecasts predict an annual 20 per cent growth."

Lynda Ogden, of Ebsfleet Properties, agrees: "Bulgaria offers excellent value for money. We're currently selling a development in the beach and golf resort of Byala, with prices starting from £25,000."

And that can only be good news for those priced out of traditional overseas property markets in the likes of Spain and France.

MOTORS NEWS

TV star Ben supports the 'Landie' challenge

EXPLORER and TV Presenter Ben Fogle and Barretts Land Rover have urged budding adventurers in Ashford and Canterbury to apply for Land Rover's 'Go Beyond' Bursary.

Launched in partnership with the Royal Geographical Society, the bursary brings £10,000, plus use of a Land Rover Defender, for up to six people to mount a geographical expedition – anything from a project in the Scottish Highlands to retracing Hannibal's Alpine march.

Barretts' dealer principal Mark Nicholas said: "The 110 Defender will make even the toughest challenge possible, with its supreme capability for tackling any terrain in its path."

For bursary info visit www.rgs.org/OurWork/Grants before December 3.

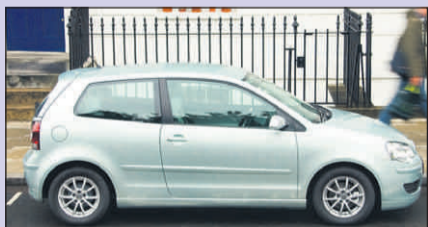

Peugeot Canterbury aiming for a hat-trick

CANTERBURY Peugeot dealer Robins & Day is on course for a hat-trick at a prestigious awards ceremony.

Next month's event is open to Peugeot's own 32 wholly-owned franchises and sets tough targets in customer service and sales, in which Robins & Day has beaten its rivals two years' running.

Steve Moody, new car sales manager at the garage in Rhodas Town, said: "We've had a particularly good year with cars like the new Peugeot 308 [pictured], so we are hopeful of a hat-trick."

VW Blue Motions car club clean-up under way

MAIDSTONE Car Club is changing up a gear in its drive for cleaner and greener travel.

The organisation, run by Kent County Council in conjunction with the fast-expanding Streetcar club, has invested in two new VW Polo Blue Motion diesel hatchbacks, emitting as little as 99g of CO2/km – lower than the 104 of the petrol-electric hybrid Toyota Prius.

KCC staff, local residents and businesses can hire the cars for business or leisure at a cost of £3.95 an hour.

VISUALLY APPEALING: It's an improvement over its predecessor, the Frontera, but can the new Vauxhall Antara win over supporters of the Land Rover Freelander 2?

Vauxhall badge clashes with green welly look

TAPING over the badges on the Antara could spark a big sales boost for Vauxhall's new 4x4.

Unfortunately, buyers aspiring to the green welly wearing, country-set image that goes with a smart city dwelling sports utility vehicle (SUV), are simply not Vauxhall people.

Their pin-up is the Land Rover Freelander 2, which is not so much dearer than the Antara (from £19,995) and has proper off-road ability, even if you don't need it.

On the other hand, Vauxhall's belated replacement for the unlamented Frontera looks classier than its everyday badge suggests.

It has smart details such as Range Rover-style vents on the front wings, wicked alloys, a high-quality interior and nice fixtures and fittings with alloy highlights, although I hate how the alloy band on the centre display reflects upwards onto the raked windscreen.

In the tradition of versatile 'Flex' interiors in Vauxhall people carriers, the interior has highly adaptable seating and a big boot – there is even an optional bike rack that retracts into the rear bumper when not in use.

It is all a far cry from the Frontera, which started life as a pick-up from General Motors' Japanese Isuzu brand. It never really escaped the rut before its demise in 2003, after 12 years on the UK market, leaving Vauxhall dealers to stew while rivals stacked up lucrative SUV sales.

But their torment is over now; on top of a favourable visual impression, the Antara is good on road. It feels taut and corners well, despite a lofty stance, yet the ride quality is comfortable.

Should you want to go off-road – though few 4x4 buyers actually do – there is also hill descent control.

The 148bhp diesel as tested here, courtesy of FG Barnes of Maidstone, is the engine to go for. It is lively, if a little noisy – it badly needs a sixth gear for quieter motorway cruising – but far superior to the weaker and thirstier 138bhp 2.4 petrol alternative, offered to tempt buyers with a sub-£20,000 lead-in price for the Antara line-up.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

FAMILY CARS FROM JAPAN

NEED a 'family car' but not keen to run with the herd? Then check out these three used Japanese models – although two are actually built in the UK. Each shows the traditional Japanese virtues of generous equipment, reliability and easy ownership, but there is also more space, flair and zest about them than seen in earlier generations. Used car buyers will also be able to pick from a variety of engine packages – including decent diesels at last – as well as hatchback, saloon and capacious estate body styles.

TOYOTA AVENSIS

TOYOTA'S previous Avensis was a re-worked Carina E with a name change to suggest it was unrelated to one of the most boring family cars of the period. The second-generation Avensis, launched in 2003, is a different animal. It drives well, has good engines, offers value for money, includes a lot of Lexus refinement technology and plays the 'Made in Britain' card strongly – very well made it is too in a huge modern plant at Burnaston in Derbyshire.

NISSAN PRIMERA

NISSAN'S final Primera was launched in 2002 and could not contrast more with its staid predecessors. The wind-cheating teardrop lines made it one of the most distinctive cars in this class, perhaps too much so for some – hastening its demise – but it offers great driving pleasure, terrific value and reliability, plus good Renault-sourced turbodiesels for endurance and economy. The Sunderland-built range was latterly streamlined to concentrate on the hatchback and the spacious and rather more elegant estate.

MAZDA6

MAZDA'S revival on the back of the '6' is well-documented and that's no exaggeration. This spin-off from the Ford Mondeo inherited that car's excellent chassis, but Mazda engineers instilled a distinctive driver appeal and sharp design inside and outside. The interior carried forward into a whole new line-up of Mazda models, while the space-efficiency of the body is excellent, whether you opt for saloon, hatchback or stylish estate. The diesels are good but the petrol units can be coarse.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Ferry company is top of the class, three times

P&O FERRIES has been named Britain's best overall ferry company for the second year running at the prestigious British Travel Awards.

Simon Johnson, director of sales and marketing, said: "We are thrilled as these are the only travel awards combining both trade and consumer votes."

P&O Ferries took top honours as best cross-Channel operator and best ferry company categories for its services from Dover to Calais, Hull to Rotterdam and Zeebrugge and Portsmouth to Bilbao.

It was also named best overall ferry company at the awards ceremony in London.

Excellent performance sparks investment

A MASSIVE growth in car and passenger traffic has sparked a wave of optimism at SeaFrance Dover-Calais Ferries.

The French cross-Channel operator saw a 13 per cent increase in car traffic from January to September, compared with a market growth of 5.6 per cent.

In the same period, passenger traffic rose by 5.5 per cent in comparison with a overall market increase of 3 per cent.

Managing director Robin Wilkins said: "The overall short sea route has done very well this year and I am pleased to confirm SeaFrance has consistently outperformed the market for both cars and passengers."

This has enabled SeaFrance to continue to invest in its fleet programme.

The company is in the process of looking into shipyard availability in Europe for the construction of a new vessel with increased garage space.

PEDAL POWER: Independent research shows that £15 million was generated in Kent by the Tour de France's speedy journey through the county in July

Tour de force for economy

HOSTING Le Tour de France has been hailed "an exceptional result" after independent research concluded that it raised £15 million for the Kent economy.

Kent County Council and Transport for London released a report commissioned from the Sport Industry Research Centre at Sheffield Hallam University into the economic effect of the Tour.

It shows that London and Kent benefited by £88 million, including organisers' expenditure, and the extra money spent by spectators and visiting teams.

London saw the lion's share, with a £73 million cash injection across July 7 and 8, with Kent seeing £15 million on July 8.

Cllr Roger Gough, KCC cabinet member for regeneration, said: "This is yet more evidence of what an amazing impact the tour had on Kent and London.

"We are confident that the priceless value of showcasing Kent on national and international television will be seen next year and in years to come, when more visitors choose Kent as their holiday destination.

"The report does not take into account, though, the tremendous community spirit engendered by the race, especially in places such as Sissinghurst and Tenterden, which wholeheartedly embraced the event."

Research estimated that the race generated 95,000 hotel nights in Kent, and that each £1 invested in bringing the tour to the UK saw a return of more than £9.

The report calls the financial impact on the host economies an "exceptional result".

The university's research does not include the value of the UK or international television coverage, which saw the Kent stage profiled in 170 countries around the world.

It also excludes the UK press coverage, valued by Cision – the media monitoring company – at more than £5 million.

KCC Tour De France project coordinator Amanda Lumley said: "The research proves it was right to bring the tour to Kent and that the county is more than capable of hosting world-class sporting events."

Additional research suggests the county's cycle retailers also enjoyed a welcome boost. It found that 63 per cent of bike shop owners believe the tour helped their businesses.

The tour was brought to the UK by Transport for London working in conjunction with Kent County Council, Amaury Sport Organisation, SEEDA, European Interreg 3A funding, Medway council, district councils and emergency services.

WOODWORK: Ellis Remy came close to scoring for the home side, but his shot hit the post

Soaked pitch leaves Invicta on slide

FOOTBALL

Folkestone Invicta 0 Hendon 4

A SEVENTH consecutive league game without a win sent Folkestone Invicta into the Ryman Premier's bottom three as high-flying Hendon outclassed the hosts at a sodden Buzzlines Stadium.

The defeat was Invicta's heaviest of the season and means Neil Cugley's men have picked up three points from a possible 21 since beating Leyton in early October.

In the home line-up Invicta gave debuts to Richard Shittu and Charlie Glyde.

The visitors came into the game high on confidence and just one point off pace at the top of the league, and they made the most of Folkestone's malaise.

Heavy rain in the days leading up to the game made the Buzzlines pitch heavy and disrupted both sides' play.

Hendon adjusted faster and they opened the scoring in the 22nd minute when Casey MacLaren's strike beat Invicta goalkeeper Charlie Mitten, before going in off the upright. Wayne O'Sullivan made it 2-0 just after the break.

Invicta came close to mustering an immediate reply, but Ellis Remy saw his shot come back off the inside of the post.

Minutes later, the game was effectively ended when striker Brian Haule increased Hendon's lead with a great finish, before O'Sullivan grabbed his second late on.

Scoring goals has been Invicta's problem all season and it was the fourth successive game Folkestone have failed to score, with the last league goal coming back in October.

The winless run has seen the club slide to within a point of the relegation zone.

But in an extremely tight division, the ten clubs above Folkestone are separated by a mere three points.

A win on Saturday away to AFC Hornchurch would send Invicta above their opponents, who go into the game in 14th place.

Hess voted the best Gill ever

ANDY Hessenthaler has been voted as Gillingham's greatest-ever player in a poll to mark the Professional Football Association's centenary.

The PFA polled supporters of every league club to find the definitive fans' favourite.

Hessenthaler, now manager at Dover Athletic, made more than 350 appearances for the club.

He told Dover's website: "If you think about the great players who have played for Gillingham – Steve Bruce to name one – it's no mean achievement and I'm delighted – it's a great honour.

"Gillingham are my club and they'll always be in my heart."

Gills fitness coach Danny Ellis talks about his plans to get the squad in shape

Deal fight back in a 10-goal thriller

DEAL TOWN staged an amazing comeback at the weekend to earn a 5-5 draw against high-flying Thamesmead Town.

Town were 3-0 down after Rikki Cable hit a 25-minute hat-trick for Thamesmead at the Charles Sports Ground. However, Deal hit back just before half-time with goals from Mark Pollard and Danny Smith.

Only three minutes of the second half had gone when Deal equalised courtesy of an own goal from Lewis Watts. Then Aaron Robinson scored after 58 minutes to put Deal in the lead for the first time.

Richard Dimmock equalised for Thamesmead, before Deal thought they had sealed a remarkable win when John Utterson hit the fifth with three minutes remaining.

However, in the final minute, Cable added his fourth of the day to salvage a point and keep his side second in the Kent Premier League.

The result leaves Deal in tenth in the Kent league ahead of Saturday's away trip to take on Hythe Town.

My striker is going nowhere, Buster!

FOOTBALL

■ BY GLENN PEARSON

Slade Green 1 Hythe Town 0

HYTHE manager Paul Fisk has issued a hands-off warning to any potential suitors for star striker Buster Smissen who has hit 23 goals so far this season.

The former Sittingbourne forward has been banging the goals in at the Reachfields Stadium and despite a disappointing 1-0 defeat at the hands of Slade Green on Saturday, Fisk has been impressed with Smissen's contributions this season.

He said: "He has been brilliant for us. I knew he was a good goalscorer when we signed him from Sittingbourne.

"He is happy at the moment, he is fit and scoring goals and it makes a big difference if you have someone up front who can score you a goal.

"People have probably been looking at him, and why wouldn't they? At the moment he is with us and if anyone does want him, they will have to come and speak to us. We are happy with him and we want to keep him."

Hythe have been going quietly about their business in the Kent Premier League this season, with Fisk's side sitting fourth in the league and with six games in hand on leaders Beckenham Town.

Fisk said: "We had a good FA Cup run and have picked up some good results, but we have not played enough league games as yet.

"We are just keeping ourselves to ourselves and just steadily picking up points and we are happy with that.

"There are more teams that are favoured to win this league, so we are going quietly about our business.

"At the start of the season, our target was to get in the top six and to be competitive at the top. In the last couple of seasons we have been scrapping in there, so we want to be really competing up there and then see what happens from there.

"We have worked really hard on fitness and that has showed in the last 15 minutes of games when we have scored goals.

"That is down to fitness coach James Harding and also the players, who should get credit, as they often come in and just run and

DETERMINED: Hythe Town are gunning for a top-six finish and Paul Fisk aims lead them out of the Kent League in two years have worked hard on it. It is really pleasing."

The facilities at the Reachfields Stadium are geared for promotion from the Kent League and is something Fisk and his squad are aiming for.

He said: "The ground is good enough, although it probably needs a little bit of work on it. I am sure the finances would also need working on for us to get promotion, but things are in place.

"The chairman, Paul Marklaand, has worked hard over the years, but I know promotion is his goal, whether that comes this year or next year I don't know."

Results prove we're on the up, says Hess

FOOTBALL

BY YOURSHEPWAY REPORTER

DOVER ATHLETIC have won 12 of their 15 games in the league this season, but it was a defeat last week which convinced boss Andy Hessenthaler his side have what it takes to be successful.

The Whites lost 1-0 to Sutton United in the FA Trophy, three days after the two sides drew 1-1 at Crabble.

The opponents play two tiers above Dover and the way his players performed delighted Hessenthaler.

He said: "We matched them and on another night we would have gone through.

"It shows how far we have come and it proves that when we go up – I say that because that's how confident I feel – the squad plus maybe a couple of additions will be good enough for the next division.

"We are building for next year, I believe we will win the league but there is lots of work to be done."

The Whites were knocked off top spot on Saturday after their game at Walton Casuals was called off due to a waterlogged pitch.

It allowed Tooting & Mitcham to leapfrog Hessenthaler's side at the Ryman South summit before Monday night's game at The Crabble against Walton & Hersham.

For the match report and reaction from the game visit www.yourdoover.co.uk.

This weekend Dover have another home game, as they entertain Worthing on Saturday.

The south coast team firmly established themselves as title contenders with a win against Kingstonian last Saturday, their sixth in a row. They also possess the best defensive record in the division, with ten goals conceded in 14 games.

Kick-off at The Crabble is at 3pm.

CONFIDENT: After watching his side holding their own against Blue Square South side Sutton United, Dover Athletic manager Andy Hessenthaler believes his team are set for promotion this season

Bettes steady ship after defeats

CRUCIAL: After two defeats, Deal & Betteshanger (in black) claimed a much-needed win

AFTER two successive defeats Deal & Betteshanger got back to winning ways with a hard-earned win against Old Dunstonians.

Recent losses against rivals Gravesend and Dover had stunted Deal's challenge at the top of the London Three South East table. With another fixture against Dover coming up in ten days, Deal coach Martyn Michael felt it was a vital game to win.

He said: "We could quite easily have lost, and then again against Dover, so it was quite a big result for us. The guys were struggling with confidence before the game and it showed early on, we were a bit awestruck but pulled our socks up and got back to the way we want to play rugby."

Dunstonians dominated the opening 15 minutes and took the lead with a deserved try.

Going behind stirred the visitors, who gradually played their way back into the game. The pressure came to nothing in the first half as a combination of stout defending from the home side and handling errors from Deal thwarted their attempts to draw level.

RUGBY

The change of ends did not alter the flow of the game and Deal got their reward on 55 minutes when Dave Farrell crossed the line. Tom Best converted to edge the away team ahead, 7-5.

The fly-half scored a try ten minutes later and added a penalty to extend the lead to ten points and put the game out of Old Dunstonian's reach.

Michael was particularly pleased with the maturity of the 18-year-old, who combined at half-back with 17-year-old Ollie Schofield after Mick O'Donnell limped off with an ankle injury.

Deal & Bettes next game is away to Dover on December 15.

SPORT IN BRIEF

Folks clinch low-scoring win despite dire conditions

DESPITE awful playing conditions at the New Burlington ground, Folkestone RFC came out on top against Charlton Park, winning 7-3.

In horrendous weather, Charlton Park got off to a quick start with a penalty to take a 3-0 lead.

However, Folkestone worked hard and got back into the game in the second half when John Eustace got the all-important try in the corner to take the lead which was converted. Park hit back, but the Folkestone side held firm to grab victory.

Top darts ace Wayne set to warm up winter league

DOVER Invitational Darts players have an extra incentive to win the winter league after the committee announced Wayne 'Hawaii 501' Mardle will present the trophies.

The world number eight will also play a series of exhibition 701 matches against players from the leagues on the presentation night in March.

In the clash of the unbeaten teams in division one, Boars Head Diamonds beat Bull A 6-3 to keep their 100 per cent record and move two points clear at the top.

Dover continue assault on summit of rugby league

DOVER RFC ran in nine tries to thrash Tonbridge Juddian 49-5 at Crabble to maintain their strong challenge in London South East Three.

On a heavy pitch the hosts adjusted well, with Ben Sedgwick claiming a hat-trick of tries as the visitors were overrun.

The victory was the Sharks' third in a row and kept them within three points of the top.

They entertain Winchester on Saturday in the fourth round of the EDF Senior Vase.

Boars Head dominant as they tame Bull B

BOARS Head Diamonds continued their sparkling form in the Dover Invitational Darts League with a 9-0 hammering of division one's basement team Bull B.

Diamonds' tenth win in as many games kept their two-point lead at the top.

Second-placed Bull A maintained the pressure with a 6-3 win against Three Cups, but Dublin Man of War suffered a shock 5-4 defeat to Archer.

In division two, Boars Head B maintained their flawless season with a 6-3 win against Golden Lion A.
